

FRED LONGWORTH HIGH SCHOOL

Freddie's 30 day challenge!

Each day you could choose one challenge to complete. You could even share the challenges with other family members and get a competition going!

Tick it off when complete

Create a treasure hunt with clues and questions based on things that you've been learning about in school. Can you get any members of your household to do it?	Create a bubble map which captures the key information that you learned in a topic in school recently	Make, bake or create something that will raise the spirits of someone in your house or neighbourhood	Create your own word search based on a topic that you have been learning about in school recently. Give it to someone in your house to complete	Can you create your own mini quiz based on something that you have recently learned in a particular subject? Quiz someone in your house!	Write a letter to the Prime Minister explaining how you think we could help people during the Coronavirus
Create a poster which could be displayed in your window showing others what ' Small acts of kindness ' might look like	Write a short script which involves two or more characters and is about the consequences of Anti-Social Behaviour in a community	Write your own poem about being kind to others who are in need of help	Can you make a connection between two different topics that you have been learning about in two different lessons recently?	Can you turn your last lesson in French or Spanish into five pictures and label each one? Create a match up game where someone in your house has to match the image with the label	Write a short story or poem entitled 'The day it all changed'
Capture your last topic in Science through five pictures . If you make duplicates of each one, you can then invite someone in your house to play the memory game where you have to turn over matching pairs!	Write a short story or poem entitled ' For the love of loo roll '	Imagine that you have found a letter written during a particular Historical event. Who wrote it and what does it tell us about that time in History?	Write your own newspaper article which captures life during the Coronavirus	Can you make a game for your family to play out of household objects?	Plan your own fitness routine . What warm up would you use? Plan it, write it down, make someone in your house do it!
Can you write an article for a magazine about teenagers and healthy lifestyles?	What if you had the chance to build a completely new School ? What would it be like? What would you do there? Can you design it and label your ideas?	Write your own Maths problem and give it to someone else in your house to solve	Create a piece of Art work that captures society as we know it today	Can you write a music quiz with answers and then quiz someone in your home?	Write a letter to someone in a different country which tells them all about what it is like to live in Britain today
Write your own Blog/Diary which captures your thoughts and top tips about coping with a worldwide pandemic	Create a collage of words and images which capture Britain today	Can you find ten new words that you haven't heard of or used before from a book, newspaper or magazine? Find out what they mean. Scramble them and ask someone else in the house to unscramble them?	Screen time calculation . Now that school is closed, can you work out how much time you are spending watching a screen Tv, phone, tablet laptop or desktop computer? How does this compare to before the closure?	Can you find and write down all devices that are connected to the internet in your house then draw a map of your house and where each device is?	You are living through history right now. Create a time capsule which contains: a letter to yourself, a picture of your family now, any news articles or images that capture life today